The Artistry of Cake Decoration: Watch & Learn

When: Tuesday, February 9, 2010 – 5:30-7:30pm

Where: Lox, Stock & Bagel, North Main Street (Bishop's Corner), West Hartford

Cost: $20.00 – wine/soft drinks, snacks, and of course, cake!

Are you one of the many who love watching food shows but think, "I can't do that!" This is your opportunity to learn to make the beautiful cakes you see in the bakery. The Member Relations Committee invites you to join us as Carol Murdock of Classic Cakes shows us some basic cake decorating techniques along with some that can be mastered with some practice. Carol has been in the food business for 30 years and has made confections a specialty for 20. She has won many competitions over the years, including gold at the Culinary Olympics in Germany in 2004 and was named Chef of the Year by the Connecticut Chef's Association in 2005. In addition to showing us how to create elegant cakes, Carol will also talk about what effect shows like "Ace of Cakes" have on the food industry.

This is a members-only event and space is limited.
